

King Mud was not like other kings. He did not go out to see the people.

He did not hunt with the other men. He did not sing at all.

From sunup to sundown he sat on a swing. As he sat, he would look at his ring.

Yes, King Mud had a ring on his hand. It was red and it was very big.

You see, the king did not like his name. That is why he sat on the swing.

Then King Mud heard two children say, "Why does he act like this?

We want him to be with us." King Mud said, "They like me a lot."

He got off his swing and went to the people. He told them, "Let's sing."
